SPECIAL 2-DAY AIRPORT PARKING SALE! $3 Per Day for Remote Parking This Weekend Only

OKLAHOMA CITY, December 18, 2013 – Will Rogers World Airport officials are predicting record demand for airport parking this holiday season. To assist in accommodating as many passengers as possible, the airport is offering a “first-ever” parking sale this Saturday and Sunday. A special remote lot has been dedicated for the low rate of $3 per day.

“For those who don’t mind parking a bit further from terminal, this is a great bargain,” says Karen Carney, airport spokesperson. “Customers will be able to take advantage the airport’s parking shuttle services and save a little extra.”

The special lot is located on the corner of 54th Street and Portland Avenue. Just as with the airport’s other surface parking lots, shuttle buses will regularly run from the remote lot to and from the terminal. The lot is lighted and will have 24/7 security. The sale will run Saturday and Sunday only, or until the special lot completely fills. Since the lot is a further from the terminal, customers should allow a little extra time for transport from the lot.

With Christmas day falling on a Wednesday, many people are traveling earlier and staying longer resulting in extended stays for vehicles in the airport’s parking garages and surface lots. Plans are in place to accommodate as many parkers as possible utilizing “overflow” lots. However, those traveling the 23rd and 24th may want to consider alternate transportation to the airport.
